

Jesus knew that he had to do things the way people predicted a Messiah should do them. That's why he rode in on a colt, because the Bible said the Messiah would do that.

Color That Stuff

People must have been so excited to know that the Messiah had come! Color the picture below in festive, bright colors.

Hosanna!

Jesus was traveling to Jerusalem with his disciples. He told his followers to find a colt for him to ride. He told them where one would be. The disciples could tell the owner Jesus needed it. The owner let them take the colt. "Yup. Sure. She's yours!" the owner said about the colt.

Jesus rode the colt into town, and as he rode, people that stood alongside the road cheered him on! They threw their coats on the ground to make a special carpet and they waved palm branches. They shouted, "Hosanna!" because they were so excited to see Jesus.

They knew he came in the name of God, and they were so excited to see him.

Special Task Force

When you're out for a ride, see which trees are still the greenest even in early spring or late winter. What types of trees are they?
