God = Love

Reflection by Kris Heinzen

I often reflect on my influence of faith on my children's life. All the prayers, devotions and talks with our kids; are they listening? Are they "really" listening and understanding?

I do my best to volunteer at church and in serve in the community, but is it enough? What else should I do? I now have a preteen and teenager, so conversation sometimes takes the form of Q & A. One moment recently answered my question, "Are they listening?"

This summer both kids went to Bible Camp (Wapo), and once home from camp I launched into our Q & A routine. I asked, "What did you learn from camp?" The answers were okay, but without much detail. They had a good time, made friends and learned about God. However, I was wanting more; was there an impactful moment? Then they told me that I had to see their camp T-shirts. Shirts that they chose and really loved.

God answered my thoughts and met me in my doubts. I needed to be reminded that God speaks to us and through us and that the exact message and timing are God's. I need to trust in my actions and trust in God working through me. As I reflect today I know, and feel, that I am blessed!

Psalm 136:26: Give thanks to the God of heaven, for his steadfast love endures forever.
